

EVA KASHKOOLI

Wrapped in white and pink blossoms,
Trees sense spring
Six weeks early.

Doves at window, beg for seed,
Green my lawn; their coos
Revive me from my blues.

